

TO REMODEL LONDON BILL

The Saloon Measure is Side-tracked.

A FLOOD OF LOCAL BILLS

The Tarboro Dispensary Bill Was Rattled in the Senate—The Murphy or Watts Bill Will Be Passed in a Few Days.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALPHIGH, N. C., February 7.—A great flood of local bills engaged the attention of both branches of the Legislature today. The Senate tabled a bill to regulate the practice of opticians. The bill prescribing the duties and liabilities of innkeepers and boarding-house keepers was made a special order for next Wednesday. The Tarboro dispensary bill was rattled.

Notable bills introduced:
By Mr. Reinhardt: To amend chapter 222, laws 1901, to provide widows of Confederate soldiers with pensions.
By Mr. Glenn: To abolish the Board of Examiners of State Institutions.
By Mr. Reinhardt: To allow railroad companies to file petitions as to rate of rates in passing through towns, where speed is regulated by ordinance.

The Senate Committee on Propositions and Grievances considered the London saloon bill this morning, and after a warm executive session referred it to a subcommittee, consisting of Messrs. Vann, Beasley and Brown, to be remodeled and reported back next Thursday. The vote for reference was a tie, Charles Vann breaking the tie with a vote to refer. There is to be an entire remodeling of the bill. This is believed to be a fatal side tracking for the bill, as the Murphy or Watts bill will surely be enacted before it is reported from the committee.

Noteworthy bills introduced in the House to-day were:

By Mr. Blount: To establish and enlarge rural school libraries.
By Mr. Drewry: Relating to investigation of fires.
By Mr. Drewry: To amend insurance laws of the State in line with recommendations by the Insurance Commission.
By Mr. Morton: In reference to oaths of sheriffs.

By Mr. King: To require registration of books sold in the State.
Important bills passed to-day: To facilitate and stimulate improvement in public roads; to incorporate Raleigh and Eastern Railroad Company; to ratify, confirm and approve the charter of the Carolina and Tennessee Southern Railway.

TO PENSION SLAVES

Confederate Veterans Camp Endorses the Hanna Bill.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Feb. 7.—Camp Hardee, United Confederate Veterans, today unanimously passed resolutions endorsing the bill introduced by Senator Hanna, allowing the pensioning of former slaves. The resolutions say in part: "We heartily endorse this bill and sincerely hope that Congress act upon it and give to all worthy ex-slaves, who are in real need a pension sufficient to enable them to support themselves and their families, and to give them a most kindly feeling (almost that of comradeship) prompts us to express ourselves in this matter, realizing the fact that the Southern slave was not the cause by any act of blood in the Civil War."

"The conservative Southern people entertain for the slave a most cordial and true friendship, and sincerely hope that the present Congress will give him a pension sufficient at least to keep him from real want and suffering."

GRAVE ROBBERY CASE

Dr. J. C. Alexander is on Trial in Indianapolis.

(By Associated Press.)
INDIANAPOLIS, IND., February 7.—The defense team turned to-day in the trial of Dr. J. C. Alexander for grave-robbing, when it asked that the State be required to elect on which count of the indictment it would go to the jury. There was no motion to quash the indictment. The fourth count of the indictment charged that Dr. Alexander was the "demonstrator of anatomy" of the college, and had possession of the body of Rose Neidlinger, which he sold, and was guilty of the crime of dissection until Monday, when the defense will take up its side of the case.

Dr. Spuan followed this ruling with a motion to withdraw the second and fourth counts of the indictment from the jury, these counts charging the defendant with having and concealing the body of Rose Neidlinger, which, he said, were separate crimes. This was also overruled. The court then adjourned until Monday, when the defense will take up its side of the case.

HOW THE SECOND RIGO SECURED PRETTY BRIDE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PARIS, February 7.—A second Rigo is interesting Paris. He is a swarthy Roumanian, named Degin, who has just been secretly married to a rich Australian heiress, Miss Mary Daly.

Degin was leader of an orchestra in a restaurant at Avenue de la Grande Armée, saw him there. On one occasion he broke his violin and she sent him anonymous—10,000 francs, with which to buy a new one. He found out the donor, paid assiduous court to her, and they were privately married. They are now in Paris.

Degin is plain to the point of ugliness. His bride is twenty-two and very pretty.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 7.—The Secretary of the Treasury has transmitted to Congress a report of the judgments rendered by the Court of Claims for claims of the soldiers of the Sixth Virginia Regiment, Volunteers, Spanish war, for time between enrollment and muster in. Crackmen in the Tenderloin.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Expert crackmen visited the Tenderloin early to-day and opened two safes, one by skillful drilling and the other with a charge of nitro-glycerine, that shattered the massive steel box into bits no bigger than one's hand. Hughes Brothers, contractors, on West Twenty-seventh Street, and the Knickerbocker auction rooms, on West Twenty-eighth Street, were the victims, and between them they lost nearly $2,000 in money and allivewares.

SPARS WITH HIS WIFE AND IS CALLED NUISANCE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, February 7.—Rufus Edson, a lawyer, living in the apartment house at No. 259 West One hundred and Sixteenth Street, was brought into the Harlem Police Court on a summons served by William Phelps, a broker, who lives across the hall.

Edson explained to Magistrate Crane that Phelps and his wife were in the habit of engaging in boxing matches, the intensity of which was such as times as to cause the pictures on his walls to rattle. This, he stated, constituted a nuisance, and justified his using extreme measures to prevent its continuance.

At this point Magistrate Crane asked Mr. Phelps if he engaged in boxing matches with his wife.

"No, your Honor," replied Mrs. Phelps, before her spouse could answer. "Not boxing matches. Just little friendly bouts. That's all. For our health; not anything else. So, of course, when Mr. Edson came to my door yesterday and kicked it in before waiting for our round to be over and for me to admit him, we were very indignant."

Magistrate Crane broke in at this point, saying:

"In the future I would advise that you both lead less strenuous lives. Out out the sparring, and I warrant your front door will remain intact. Case dismissed."

Mr. John Bowers was born in Philadelphia seventy-six years ago. He received there his education and came to Richmond to make this city his home when only about twenty years of age. He had resided here for fifty-six years.

He was one of those associated with the late John H. Kronies in the movement that led up to the installation of a gas plant in Richmond.

In 1850 Mr. Bowers and Charles D. Yale established on Main Street, below Twelfth, a business under the firm name of Yale & Bowers, which succeeded well in the mantle filling and house-furnishing business.

MR. JOHN BOWERS.

ing business. During the Civil War the concern of Yale & Bowers manufactured powder for the Confederacy and in other ways contributed to the cause for which Southern people fought.

Soon after the war, Mr. Yale having retired from the firm, Mr. Bowers established his place of business on Governor Street. There he conducted what was generally conceded to be the largest house in this line of business south of Philadelphia. Mr. Bowers, by his energy, perseverance and honest methods built up a large custom, and he was at one time quite a wealthy man. His failing health caused him to retire from active business pursuits in 1880, and since that time he has lived the quiet life of a gentleman without business cares.

Mr. Bowers never held public office. He was not what might be termed a great "mixer" with the people. He had his small circle of intimate friends and he loved to mingle with them. He was a man of a good deal of natural wit and humor, and was a most charming entertainer. He was a good-natured, well-souled man, and one who was liberal in works of charity.

Mr. Bowers had been a widower for more than a score of years. His wife was a Philadelphia native. He is survived by the following children: Mr. John Bowers, Jr., of Richmond; Mrs. Thomas P. Meany, of Richmond; Mrs. W. B. Logan, of Shelbyville, Ky., and the Misses Ida and Leola Bowers, of this city.

Soon after the war Mr. Bowers connected himself with the Second Presbyterian Church, and was one of the most devout followers of the late Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hunt, between whom there was a warm attachment.

"Oh how pleasing in the sight of God is a Christian suffering with patience!" Words so befitting the pure soul of Margaret A. Quinn, who departed this life last Sunday morning, after ten long years of suffering, and who was so much patient and resignation to the will of Divine Providence. There was never a murmur or complaint heard to pass her lips. Kind and considerate for those around her, as she had always been, she was her last moments.

She lived a true, quiet and peaceful life, and by her amiable and lovable disposition she endeared herself to many true friends. As she lived, so she died, "Oh, so peacefully," trusting in her Saviour, whom she never forgot a moment. The last words were sweet supplications of prayer to her God, God, but not forgotten. Requiescat in pace.

MORE MONEY FOR CAPITOL REPAIRS

Hon. W. D. Cardwell, of Hanover, on yesterday afternoon in the House a bill to appropriate $100,000 additional for proposed repairs to the State Capitol building. It will be recalled that the present Legislature at a former session appropriated $100,000 for this purpose, and Cardwell was one of the ablest of opinion that while the work is being done it should be done in the most complete and thorough manner. It is learned that in addition to the Peckles plan, which contemplates the rebuilding of the present building, Messrs. # AN EXTRA SESSION

Probable That Roosevelt Will Convene Congress in March

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Messages Purporting to Have Been Sent by Rockefeller Protesting Against Anti-Trust Legislation Received by Six Senators.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 7.—It can be stated by authority that unless anti-trust legislation, at least satisfactory to the administration, is enacted at the present session, President Roosevelt, on the 5th of March, will call an extraordinary session of the Fifty-eighth Congress. The President himself has told members of Congress of his desire and of his determination in this regard. It is understood that the announcement was direct and unqualified.

It is further stated that the determination of the President was reached only after careful consideration of the strenuous efforts that are being made to defeat any anti-trust legislation by Congress. These efforts have covered a wide range. They were characterized to-day by one prominent Republican leader, to quote him directly, "as the most remarkable of which I have had personal knowledge during my public life."

These efforts culminated during the past thirty-six hours, it is now declared, in direct appeals from the Standard Oil Company, through its president, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, to members of the Senate not to enact any anti-trust legislation at this time.

No less than six United States Senators have received telegrams signed "John D. Rockefeller," urging that no anti-trust legislation be enacted. It has not been possible to obtain a copy of these dispatches, which, it can be said, are practically identical. Substantially they read as follows:

"We are opposed to any anti-trust legislation. Our counsel, _____, will see you. It must be stopped."

As stated, these telegrams (and it must be clear that only the substance and not the exact wording is here given) were signed "John D. Rockefeller."

Yesterday morning one of the counsel of the Standard Oil Company arrived in Washington and called immediately upon members of the Senate as indicated in the telegrams. He did not remain long. Scarcely had he made known his business than he was informed, a bit curtly, that his presence here was undesirable. The aide left with an intimation on that he would be retained in New York.

During the afternoon information concerning the receipt of the messages leaked out and became the subject of some quiet cloak-room discussion on the Senate floor. The news also reached the House, some of the prominent representatives learning the substance of the dispatches. Then it became known that this was not at first time the Standard Oil Company, through its attorneys, had endeavored to influence legislation in Congress at this session. The attorneys for the company, it was stated, had opposed vigorously the enactment of the measure submitted by Attorney Knox to the committee of the House Judiciary Committee subsequently when what is known as the Littlefield bill was reported to the House.

(By Associated Press.)
CARACAS, February 7.—A committee composed of two Germans, two Frenchmen, one Englishman, two Dutchmen and two Spaniards, representing the foreign residents of Caracas, have informed W. W. Russell, Secretary of the American Legation, that next Tuesday the city of Caracas would be without illuminating gas and that as a result great fear is felt for the safety of life and property under such conditions. In view of the existing political situation, the committee requested Mr. Russell to use his good office in the name of the foreign residents in this city with the commanding officers of the blockading warships to secure their permission for the landing at Lagunav of a cargo of coal, which is now on board ships at Curacao. It was referred to Washington.
